October 2019
Volume 40 Number 10

God of love and power,
We know that you are with us and you are for us. You are the God who breaks down every barrier. We trust that your Spirit will break through in us and your church.
Give us the courage to step through the doors you open. Fill us with the grace, mercy and power of Jesus.
Lead us where you would have us
go. Amen.

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

In the beginning of one of my favorite movies, You've Got Mail, the two main characters write emails back and forth to one another. One of them writes, "Don't you love New York in the fall? It makes me wanna buy school supplies. I would send you a bouquet of newly sharpened pencils if I knew your name and address." Though Wisconsin is pretty far from New York the feeling of fall is just beginning to creep into the air. I do not know about you but it makes me want to purchase new number two pencils and scotch tape.

Fall is often a season of transitions and new beginnings. Students and teachers begin a new school year. The leaves begin to fall. All of us begin to prepare for winter in Wisconsin with increasing anticipation. This is also the season that we prepare for a new year within the church. We select those who will serve on committees, file yearly paperwork with the Annual Conference and we prepare our budget for the next year. While, this is less than glamorous work, these are important tasks that allow us to continue to reach out to our community in ministry. It's these kinds of mundane processes that allow us to make disciples of Jesus Christ for the transformation of the world.

Part of this important process is that we ask all of the members of our church to courageously and prayerfully look at their lives and priorities and estimate their giving for the coming year. This estimate can be changed mid-year if things change in your family or if there is an area within the church that you feel particularly called to support, but this estimate helps us to know as a community how we can best spend our financial resources.

Lamentations 3:22-24 reads, "The steadfast love of the LORD never ceases, his mercies never come to an end; they are new every morning; great is your faithfulness. 'The LORD is my portion,' says my soul, 'therefore I will hope in him.'" Every morning is an opportunity for a new beginning. Every morning is an opportunity to create something new. It is a sign of God's love and faithfulness to us that the sun rises and we get to start again. As we plan for this coming year within the church, I pray that we will make courageous choices. That we will remember that our hope is in the Lord and with the Lord's guidance, I am sure that we as a church community will grow stronger and more faithful each and every day.

While I cannot send you each a bouquet of newly sharpened pencils to celebrate this new year in our church, I do send you my deepest appreciation for the warm welcome you have given me. Together with God, I am sure we will do great things in the coming months and years.

Archer Prayer

Let's get more serious about prayer. In Floodgates', Susan Nilson Kibbey asks, if we really believe that prayer makes a difference then we will be more conscious of our need to pray to God in all situations. She suggests that people be active in Archer Prayer; prayer which has a target in mind. The Church Council invites us to pray for specific targets in our ministry:

- The target is for the Stewardship Program and spiritual and financial growth of Concordia UMC.
- The targets are Holly Neale and John Budd and those training to be Stephen Ministers.
- The target is for prayers for guests that visit Concordia.
- The target is for children to share the good news.
- The target is for our Sunday School program

Handbell Choir Practices

6:15-7:15pm
October
16th, 23rd, 30th

Have you felt a nudge from the Lord to sing in the choir? Or has it simply crossed your mind? Have you responded with any of the following?

- I don't have that good a voice
- I don't read music
- I'm too young/too old/too busy

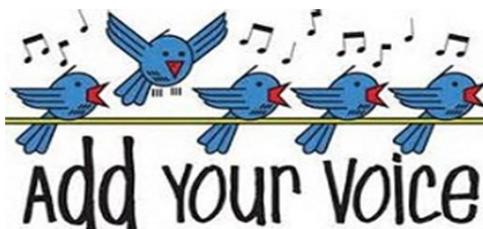

To these things let me say:

- Choir is a blend of voices. They aren't dependent on any one person having a good voice. What's a "good voice", anyway? A matter of opinion. Yes, it's important to sing on pitch. But good is subjective. One can always improve, anyway, and singing is the best method!
- There are more ways to read music than knowing where C is. Seeing if notes go up or down and how far up or down is a valid way. We can also learn our parts by rote!
- Too young? Maybe. But If you're 14 or more, you are welcome. A mix of ages can be the most fun ever!
- Too old? Don't be silly! The Bible doesn't have even one example of retiring!
- Too busy? Busy people are known to accomplish more. Even though we work at choir, it is restful to the spirit. It's a change from our daily grind. It's a positive thing to do for ourselves. It's an OASIS for one hour once a week, and then twice a month we share the fruit of that oasis during worship.

"But let all who take refuge in You be glad. Let them ever sing for joy; and may You shelter them, that those who love Your name exult in You." Psalm 5:11

Do come! Thursdays at 6:30pm. We sing typically on the 2nd and 4th Sundays. If you have questions, contact Robin Steinweg at 643-6317

Letter From the Bishop: Strength in Our Roots

The trees of the Lord are watered abundantly, the cedars of Lebanon that he planted. Psalm 104:16

I have been reflecting on the imagery from scripture concerning trees, especially the “cedars of Lebanon,” mentioned so often in scripture. The mighty cedars were planted by God. They represent the sound, the solid, the enduring—in essence the very will of God. Repeatedly, the historians and prophets point to the destruction of the cedars of Lebanon as the sign of disobedience, disrespect, and disregard for God’s creation and covenant.

I find the metaphor of trees in a forest compelling, especially the redwood tree. Redwoods grow to amazing heights, though they do not lay down deep roots. Instead, the root system stretches wide, and the roots intertwine and fuse together with other redwoods. One 350-foot redwood has roots stretching 100 feet from the trunk, creating an interconnected network of roots that gives strength and stability to the entire forest. This interdependence is an excellent image of what our strong United Methodist Church system should be. As each tree grows, it strengthens the system; what affects one part of the system, affects the whole. Very similar to the Paul’s image of the Body of Christ in I Corinthians 12 – where one member suffers, all suffer; where one is honored, all benefit.

Equally important is the integrity of the system, rather than the value of the parts. It is impossible to uproot one tree without devastating other parts of the system. The interconnection goes so deep and stretches so wide that to do damage to one part causes massive destruction to the whole body. When I hear people talking about “amicable separation,” and “gracious exit” from The United Methodist Church, the imagery of the redwood root system always comes to mind.

I do not believe there is a path to separation that will not cause irreparable harm, both to the members and to the system. Those individual parts who want what they want, no matter the cost cannot achieve their ends without doing deep harm to the system. If indeed our mission is to make disciples of Jesus Christ for the transformation of the world, we can do this so much more effectively with the system intact rather than in tatters.

I understand the depth of passion, commitment, emotion, and even the wide range of interpretations of scripture and theological perspective. We are not of one heart, mind, or spirit on many things. Yet we are call connected. We share a common baptism. We share a common covenant. We are, all of us, recipients of God’s grace, forgiveness, and love. We are reconciled beyond our own individual weaknesses into the body of Christ; not by our own doing, but by God’s. Our roots are intertwined. Our roots are fused. We can no more go our separate ways with no harm or damage than we can uproot a single redwood. “We are one in the Spirit, we are one in the Lord,” is a beloved refrain from “They Will Know We Are Christians By Our Love,” and this is more than fanciful poetry. We are all fed, nurtured, cultivated, and cared for by God. We are the product of God’s will, God’s vision, and God’s purpose. We are the cedars of Lebanon that God planted, and it would be nothing less than sin to see our mighty forest torn apart, burned, and destroyed.

My constant prayer is a prayer for unity. My ongoing desire is that we embrace fully the General Rules; doing no harm, committing ourselves to doing all the good possible, and attending cooperatively and compassionately with the many uniting and unifying ordinances/practices of God that open us constantly to the means of grace. There are things that bend us, but I pray they might not break us. There are things that threaten us, but I pray they don’t destroy us. And there are things that cause disagreement, but I pray they do not ultimately separate us from each other and from the will of God.

Let us pray faithfully and fervently together: God, thy will be done, in us and through us. Amen.

Grace and Peace,

Bishop Hee-Soo Jung

“They are to do good, to be rich in good works, generous, and ready to share, thus storing up for themselves the treasure of a good foundation for the future, so that they may take hold of the life that really is life.” 1 Timothy 6:18-19

GIVING– The Virtue of Giving

“In all this I have given you an example that by such work we must support the weak, remembering the words of the Lord Jesus, for he himself said, “it is more blessed to give than to receive.”

Acts 20:35

I recently came across a quotation by David Starr Jordan, founding President of Stanford University: “Wisdom is knowing what to do next; Skill is knowing how to do it, and Virtue is doing it.” It caused me to think about how this applies to generosity.

Knowing That I Should Give: God calls us all to worship God and support the church. Stewardship is faithful management of all God gives us so that God can use our gifts to transform us spiritually and extend Christ’s transforming love to others. We are told in Scripture that “God loves a cheerful giver” and that “It is more blessed to give than to receive.”

Knowing How to Determine What I Should Give: Scripture informs us to love God and love others. Thus, we should divide our giving between the two. The amount to give to God through the church is the tithe, ten percent of our income. In order to reach the tithe, we should prayerfully consider what proportion of income to give, then strive to increase toward the goal of tithing, usually by about one percent of income per year. Although some of our tithe will go to the needy, we should consider another proportion of income to give to those in need.

The Virtue of Giving: The real issue is not whether we give 10%, but what we will do with the entire 100%. John Wesley believed in the spiritual discipline summed up as “earn all you can, save all you can, give all you can.” Wesley believed that after earning money honestly and spending only what we need on our families and ourselves, we should give the rest away. Surely, using this approach, he would anticipate that our giving would be much more than the tithe of ten percent. His was.
